“ For many years Mable and I taught together at Garinger High School in Charlotte, NC. She was an excellent teacher, devoted wife, loving mother and cherished friend. Not only was she a mother to her own children but she was a mother, friend and confidant to the hundreds of students she taught over the years. I still wake up thinking "I need to call Parker and ask her a question" almost forgetting she is no longer at the end of the phone. I already miss her. We had many conversations where we talked as if we could jokingly "solve the problems of the world". Who will help me solve those problems now? Lol May she rest in peace.
